-PRESS RELEASE-

The LMS Center is pleased to announce its new collaboration with the Société Québécoise de Gestion Collective des Droits de Reproduction (COPIBEC) which has acquired the license to manage the reproduction rights of educational works by Mr. Patrick Mayard. This new collaboration allows the LMS Learning Center to better serve stakeholders in the school community. Indeed, the teaching staff in public schools and Colleges, School Service Centers or a government body that wishes, for educational purposes, to reproduce part of the works, projecting extracts in class or sharing pages, to their team, on a platform can now do so, with a legal and direct authorization from Copibec.

The list of works for which the reproduction right is licensed by Copibec is:

- The Light Guide: Problem-solving strategy and multiple-choice questions in math & science
- The Light Guide 2: Effective learning strategies
- Light Guide 3: Optimization, from ordinary to extraordinary teachers

Based on 7 educational works produced, multiple interviews and conferences carried out as well as receiving two consecutive awards for excellence in teaching (Quebec & Canada), Mr. Mayard is a distinguished Consultant in the school environment who puts his knowledge as well as his expertise at the service of the nation of Quebec and Canada.

Copibec is a non-profit Quebec company that was founded in 1997. It belongs to a community representing more than 30,000 authors and more than 1,300 publishing houses. Its mission is to ensure, through collective management, the use of the works of authors while respecting their rights and those of their publishing houses. The LMS Learning Center is delighted to be associated with this company and the synergy that derives from their collaboration.
