-PRESS RELEASE-

LMS Centre participates in the provincial week promoting perseverance in education

In view of promoting the provincial week of educational perseverance that Quebec will hold from the 13 to the 17 of February 2012, LMS Center, the sole learning and tutorial Centre in Quebec specializing in mathematics and science, launches a new pedagogical tool: "Success through perseverance".

This pedagogical work, realized by Patrick Mayard, president and founder of the LMS Center, is a motivational CD of 35 minutes which reinforces the fundamental keys of educational perseverance. It can be constituted as a fundamental tool in increasing youth motivation in school. It is also essential for students facing and affected by academic difficulty, low self-esteem and trapped by the educational errors of their past.

Patrick Mayard is a teacher of mathematics, physics and robotics at Rosemont high school. He is also member of the jury of engineers for the Canadian Robotics Competition and a judge for the Hydro Quebec Science & Technology Fair. Above everything else, he is considered as a leader and distinguished speaker in the domain of educational success. In fact, he has been a motivational guest speaker in several seminars held in hotels or in educational establishments on the island of Montreal (Royal Vale high school, Henri-Bourassa school, Maisonneuve College).

His latest work unites motivation, strategies of success and psychological strength. Undoubtedly, this album in CD form is deemed to transform and hold much impact in the lives of youth. This product is now on sale in the library of McGill University, the Ahuntsic College coop, the Jean-de-Brebeuf College and the office of the Light of Mathematics and Science Centre at au 5935, boul. des Grandes-Prairies in St-Léonard.
